Murray and Nero Candidates For President

Presidential; NSA Aspirants May Debate Today in Lecture Hall

Roberts; Tarkin Vie For Presidency

This week marks the beginning of the election campaign for Student Organization positions for the academic year 1967-68. As of Friday, February 24, Joseph Murray and Frank Nero have announced their candidacy for the presidency; Kevin Roberts and Ken Tarkin for the vice-presidency; Candy Blake for Assistant Secretary; and Caroline Vetterer for Assistant Treasurer.

President of the Class of 1963 for the past two years, Joe Murray feels that he has "a grasp of the problems confronting student government and their solution."

As he sees it, a "united" Council is necessary to serve "the best interests of their constituents." He states that it is the "responsibility" of the president to establish and maintain this unity.

Another most important responsibility for Council is to disburse its $160,000 in student activities fees. To overcome the problem of communication Murray suggests "a bulletin published periodically and distributed to the student body..."

He feels himself "aware of the perplexities of Student Government" and desires to see his programs carried to a "successful conclusion."

Fourteen Freshmen and Thirteen Sophomores have come out in support of Murray. He is also supported in statements by Mike Wojcik, President of the Sophomore Class, and Thomas McLeod, President of the Freshman Class.

Presidential aspirant Frank Nero has held the position of Vice-President of Student Organization for the past two years. He served as a member of the Curriculum Committee, and edited the first student evaluation of courses and professors.

Nero feels that the position of Student Organization president is a "demanding position. It requires knowledge and experience in such diversified areas as curriculum, finances, parliamentary procedure, educational and cultural programming and academic freedom."

Nero cites his experiences in these areas as Vice-President

USNSA Offers Scholarship To Poland

The United States National Student Association will award one full scholarship for study in Poland during the academic year 1967-68.

This scholarship is being awarded as part of a program of student exchange which the National Student Association sponsors yearly with the Zrzeszenie Studentow Polskich (Polish Students' Association). The purpose of the program is to further the development of understanding between the students of the United States and Poland by promoting greater study of the history, culture

Robert Baxter, candidate for NSA Coordinator.

Stanley Martin, candidate for NSA Coordinator.

Baxter, Martin, Harms Candidates for NSA

Robert Baxter, Kathy Harms and Stan Martin all announced their candidacy for the position of N.S.A. Co-ordinator to the Independent last week.

Baxter is a member of the Class of 1970 and a Council representative for that class. The freshman aspirant is currently on the Finance Board and a member of the Class of 1970's Congress.

In his statement to the Independent Baxter wrote, "NSA has done much in the past to advance student rights on this campus...I would like to see these worthwhile projects continued and others initiated to help N.S.C. Students realize the full potential of their rights and privileges..."

Harms, a Student Council representative for the Class of 1968, was unaware of the Thursday deadline. Miss Harms did not submit her statement until Friday; her information will appear in next Thursday's issue of the Independent.

Stan Martin, a member of the Class of 1969, has been active on the N.S.A. committee since its inception.

Martin participated in the Fast for Freedom, Election

Council Backs CCB Instead of Debate

Student Council voted Friday to support the College Center Board program that conflicts with today's scheduled debate.

In a motion presented to the Council by Bill Price and passed by a substantial 24 to 5 vote with four abstentions, Council went on record as "supporting the College Center Board event on Tuesday, February 28, 1967, and request that the Election Committee consider sponsoring a similar debate."

A question arose over the validity of the debate when the format was presented to Council. Exception to the debate arose over its conflict with the C.C.B. Lecture Series, the investigation of the Young Republican Club underway by the Dean of Students, Herbert W. Samenfeld, the fact that Miss Kathy Harms, President of the Young Republican's Club is also a candidate for N.S.A. and the alleged discrimination against fraternal and sorority affiliations, included in its format caused Council's action. It was also reported that five candidates were not going to appear because they questioned the validity of the debate.

Kathy Harms defends her position to fellow Council members. Council voted to support C.C.B. program that conflicts with slated debate. Council also roundly defeated two other motions of Miss Harms'.

NSA Board Says Information Given to CIA

The National Supervisory Board of the National Student Association reported last week that association members had passed on information to the Central Intelligence Agency.

The revelation came in the ten member board's six-page report on the NSA-CIA affiliation. The NSB stated "representatives of the Association, whether aware of the CIA relationship or not, were used by the CIA to gain access to the trust and confidence of individuals active in the international student movement."

The report continued, "Those few who were in contact with the Agency issued reports and made available to the Agency from time to time NSA documents and files on political situations and personalities in the international student world."

The NSB also named the foundations that passed information on to the CIA. Those groups named in the report are as follows:

The Foundation for Youth and Student Affairs

The Catherwood Foundation

The San Jacinto Foundation

The Independence Foundation

Sidney and Esther Robb Foundation

Mr. E. R. E. Smith

The release also stated that "at least fifteen other foundations and individuals have passed funds to NSA from the CIA."

The NSB also stated that "no NSA Co-ordinator, Student Body President or Regional Officers of the Association knew of this relationship."

INDEPENDENT

"Truth cannot be forced but must be allowed to plead for itself."

The Debatable Debate

A debate of candidates for the presidency of the Student Organization and of aspirants for the position of campus coordinator for the United States National Student Association is an excellent idea. However, the structure of the debate jointly initiated by the Young Democrat & Young Republican Clubs of this campus leaves much to be desired and appears to be hardly worthwhile.

The scheduled forum excludes debate between the candidates for the second most important office of the Student Organization, the vice presidency. The complexities and intricacies of the organization makes it mandatory that vice presidential candidates be scrutinized as carefully as presidential candidates were excluded in favor of the N.S.A. Coordinators.

Equally difficult to grasp is the requirement for all persons querying speakers to state their fraternal affiliations. We view this as an obvious contradiction to Miss Harms' (who is jointly responsible for the debate with Miss Pamela Zardecki) pleas to end factionalism.

Another obvious paradox in the program is Miss Harms' coordination of the debate. As a candidate for the position of N.S.A. Coordinator, Miss Harms would have an obviously unfair advantage over her opponents, who so far include Robert Baxter and Stanley Martin.

The idea is a good one, and Miss Harms and Miss Zardecki should be congratulated for attempting to bring the issues to the student body and trying to add some professionalism to the campaign, but the format is incomprehensible and unreasonable. It is a shame that this excellent innovation is wasted for lack of respectable implementation and it is hoped that the Election Committee will consider sponsoring a more responsible debate as Council has directed.

Greek Sing - Two Nights

Although NSC's Theatre for the Performing Arts offers better staging, lighting and acoustics for the college's annual Greek Sing, it does present problems.

In years previous to last, the gym was used for Greek Sing. It was spacious enough to accommodate all Greeks, as well as their guests, for the performance. Last year, the program was held on two consecutive evenings, to assure the Greek population and their guests of an opportunity to hear the Greeks perform in the not so spacious theatre. Guests were invited for the first night and were charged a nominal fee.

This year, the Inter Fraternity-Sorority Council has announced its decision to limit the program to one night. To replace finances lost by the obviously necessary limitations of guests due to limitations in space, each Greek must buy a 25c ticket to be allowed to sing in his program.

We of the Independent feel that this IFSC ruling presents an unbearably restricting program to the Greeks of this campus. To be asked to eliminate a large number of guests at a performance which requires months of practice, thereby eliminating alumni, faculty members, parents and friends, as well as graduated Greeks, is disappointing and frustrating enough. To be asked to pay for those who have not come is insulting.

The Independent strongly urges IFSC to reconsider what we believe to be an amazingly shortsighted decision.

Greeks want the spirit to be one of true competition, unhindered by any stifling measures. They have made their feelings known to IFSC.

We urge IFSC to seriously consider these feelings and more seriously reconsider their restricting ruling.

Sound and Fury

Toleration

To the Editor:

My toleration of the apparent feelings which certain professors hold toward Industrial Arts and Physical Education majors has reached its peak. I cannot sit through another class and listen to a professor express his or her feelings concerning "overpaid" I.A. and Phys. Ed. teachers in the nations school systems. Is our certification not equal to that of other curricula?

Last year a Science Department professor stated to an all I.A. class that she was told to "lay it on hard" because the I.A.'s are irresponsible loafers of some sort. She later confessed that the class wasn't half as bad as her expectations had led her to believe. A Psychology Department professor announced that "I.A. majors are clearly victims of an inferiority complex and feel at home at the bottom of the ladder."

When statements such as these are presented directly to a class, what are we to expect of the entire situation other than solidified prejudice within our profession. It's often brought to our attention that our pay scale is slightly higher because of demand..... must we hold a higher degree also? Give us a break.

An Overpaid,
Don Houston '68

a wonderful thing if all of the bickering and accusations would stop.

Personally, I am sick and tired of hearing these petty complaints from people who are either too ignorant or stupid to realize that they are hurting Council, rather than helping it.

Thank you, ...
Robert C. Flynn...

Some People Support Her

To the Editor:

We feel that Kathy Harms should be complimented for the great job that she is doing as Chairman of the Curriculum Committee. Her poll is the most worthwhile poll we have seen so far. Speaking of polls, whatever happened to Frank Nero's Course Evaluation poll which we thought as (sic) coming out last semester?

Aleta Tully, '69
Elyse Stein, '69 ..

Editor's Note: We too have been waiting for the Course Evaluation poll. If you are really interested, the co-chairmen of the Course Evaluation, Joe Murray and Frank Nero, will be readily available for comment.

Harms Gets More Response

To the Editor:

As a Council member and as a reader of the Independent, I am beginning to find Kathy Harms' view of Council rather unsettling and very much exaggerated.

There is a bit of factionalism in Council. But from what I have seen it is not between Tau and anti-Tau forces.

The leader of one faction is a Junior, who, in my opinion, would do well to work a little harder at his job of leading his class and representing it on the Council floor, rather than trying to halt every move proposed by the other "faction."

I can't help but wonder just what Miss Harms is trying to do. But, I doubt that, if confronted with the question, she would give myself or anyone else a straight answer.

Student Council is in dire straits, and it would truly be

For Nero

To the Editor:

Each year, students of this college pay a certain amount of money which goes to Student Organization, and we're sure you would want it to be spent wisely. The president of your Student Organization will use this money for the betterment of your student government and N.S.C. itself. This all reflects back to you. So don't be talked into giving your money to a person with the best sales pitch. Spend it wisely. Make sure that the person you pick for Student Organization President will not only be able to sell ideas and not lead them. Let's see Student Organization make the news and receive favorable reaction, not the reverse.

We believe the man who has shown his ability and leadership in Student Organization is the current Vice President of Student Organization, Frank Nero. Through his accomplishments in the dress code, Student Organization and student freedom, we believe that this is the man to lead you next year. So may we remind you; vote for leadership, not salesmanship. Vote Frank Nero, Student Organization President.

Sincerely,
John Belz,

For Murray

Dear Students,

For the past six months, I have worked very closely with Joe Murray. We have served together on the Student Organization Executive Board, the Student Personnel Committee, and Vietnam Forum Committee and the Student Council. I've seen him working with others on the Liberal Arts Curriculum Committee and the Ad Hoc Y.M.H.A. Bus Committee.

Having seen him in action, I wholeheartedly support Joe's candidacy for the office of Student Organization President.

Yours truly,
Thomas D. McLeod Jr.

For Nero

To the Editor:

The office of President of Student Organization is a vital one. It is important that the person who is elected to this position be a capable leader. We believe that Frank Nero is this person. He has shown his qualities as a leader in the following organizations and committees:

Vice President Student Council (1965-1966) (1966-1967)

Chairman N.J. Region Nat'l Student Association (1966-67)

Chairman Dress Code Committee (led to abolishment of dress code)

Chairman Cut System Evaluation Committee (1966-67)

Vice Chairman C.U.E. Committee on Undergraduate Ed. (1965-66)

We hope you will support Frank Nero in his campaign.

For Roberts

To the Editor:

During the campaign for elective office there is a tendency to concentrate on the presidential candidate and give less attention to the candidate for vice-president of the Student Body. This is unfortunate because of the many responsibilities connected with the position. In the coming weeks, you will be deluged by candidates seeking your vote. One of these candidates, sophomore Kevin Roberts will appear on the ballot seeking the office of Vice-President. Rather than ask you to vote for him, I would suggest only that you keep his name in mind when reading the various campaign literature.

It is my belief that a review of his platform, and a resume of his qualifications, will dictate your choice at the polls. Kevin's past experience in student politics, his knowledge of its inner-workings and his qualities of leadership, make it a pleasure for me to support him in his bid for the office of

Vice-President of the Student Body.

Sincerely,
Bill Price

Class of '69

For Baxter

To the Editor:

Robert Baxter, in my opinion, is one of the outstanding men on the N.S.C. political scene. He waged a successful campaign for Student Council, he was appointed and is serving as freshman representative on Council Finance Board and is a member of high esteem on the Freshman Class Congress.

He is now a candidate for the campus post of N.S.A. co-ordinator. Based on my knowledge of the man's character, earnestness, and based on his previous and present achievements, I sincerely believe that of the candidates in contention, Bob Baxter is the man for the job!

Sincerely,
Thomas D. McLeod, Jr.

For Martin

To the Editor:

During this academic year it has been my pleasure to serve this college as the N.S.A. Co-ordinator. Throughout this time Stan Martin, a sophomore member of this committee has devoted much of his time and energy to its work. Aside from assisting in other committee projects, he has accepted full responsibility for the proposed Student Discount program. It is the hope of myself and the undersigned members of the committee that the time Stan has devoted and the experience he has gained over the past year will be taken into consideration as you go to the polls next week to elect a new NSA Co-ordinator.

Jersey City Nips Squires 66-65 In NJSCC

George Gilchrist, number 30, hits on a pretty jumper in game last week. "Gil", just a freshman, is averaging 8.4 points a game and has been hitting on 41% of his shots.

Playing without the services of two starters and one reserve, Newark State rallied from a sixteen point deficit, to gain a 63-63 tie, only to see a three point play by Dennis Richardson give Jersey City a 66-65 win, on the victors count. The play gave Jersey City a 66-63 lead and Fred Boff's tap at the buzzer fell one point short.

The Squires with Tom Ziolkowski and Tom Messina injured, played the Gothics on even terms through the first half and the score at the intermission was 29-25 with Jersey City ahead.

At the start of the second half, Jersey City got hot and soon the score was 46-30, Jersey City ahead. It looked like the Gothics would romp across the finish line. At this juncture, Jim Chilakos, Fred Boff and George Gilchrist got hot and Newark State started to narrow the margin. A foul made the score 61-57. Fred Boff threw in a jumper narrowing the margin to 61-59. An exchange of baskets left the score at 63-61 and with half a minute to go Newark State got possession of the ball. They called time-out to set up a play. When action resumed George Gilchrist drove toward the basket. He missed the shot but grabbed the rebound and dropped it through the twine to tie the score at 63-63 with twenty seconds to play and set the stage for Richardson's 3-point play. Fred Boff led the Squires with twenty-one points, nineteen rebounds, and six blocked shots. Freshman George Gilchrist scored fourteen points and pulled down eleven rebounds. Jim Chilakos and Jim Dubois added twelve and eleven, respectively.

and "by playing an active role on the College Center Board in planning and executing various educational and cultural events.

John Belz, President of Nu Delta Pi, Carl W. Fuhri, President of Nu Sigma Phi, and Andy Ray, President of Sigma Beta Tau, have come out in Nero's support. Also, the presidents of seven sororities have announced their backing of Mr. Nero.

Kevin Roberts has declared his candidacy for the office of Vice-President of the Student Organization. Mr. Roberts is a Sophomore English major, and has been Newark State's NSA Co-ordinator and has attended the yearly NSA Congress. He has also attended the Leadership Conference and is presently serving as a sophomore class representative to Student Council.

Mr. Roberts feels that it would be "a step backward if the student body supported certain provisions in the Faculty Senate's constitution, which could turn out to be infringements upon the NSC student."

Ken Tarkin has also announced his candidacy for this office, but could not meet the Thursday, February 23, deadline for this issue.

Candidate for the office of Assistant Secretary is Candy Blake. Miss Blake is a freshman, and holds the office of recording secretary of her class. In addition to this, she has served on the secretarial staff of the Student Organization. Miss Blake has stated that, "by working in the regular routine of this office, I realize the work that is done and, if I am elected, I am prepared to do it."

Caroline Vetterer, a freshman Fine Arts major, is running for the office of Assistant Treasurer of Student Organization. Miss Vetterer has experience as an assistant bookkeeper at an Acme Supermarket, and was business manager of her high school yearbook. She is also a member of the NSA committee, the Freshman Congress, the Girls' Basketball Team, and the Newman Club. Miss Vetterer would like this opportunity to "participate fully, learn about the school, its organization, and its students."

and institutions of the two countries and by encouraging the full involvement of the exchanges in the student life of their host countries.

Candidates will be judged on the basis of their knowledge of Polish or Russian, and their acquaintance with Polish life and history, as well as their knowledge of American society and an ability to communicate this knowledge effectively. Graduate and undergraduate students are eligible and both general study (including language study) and advanced research projects will be considered as having equal merit. Seriousness of purpose, and the relevance of the academic plans of the applicants to their background and future plans, will be important criteria.

The National Student Association

will pay full cost of travel and shipment of baggage from place of residence to the place of study in Poland and return, as well as incidental expenses such as passport and inoculations. The Polish Students' Association will provide room, board, tuition and incidental expenses while the participant is in Poland.

Applications may be obtained locally through Student Government office or by writing to the United States National Student Association, Polish Scholarship Program, 2115 "S" Street, N. W., Washington, D.C. 20008.

The deadline for submission of applications is March 15th. The best applicants will be interviewed during the last two weeks of March and selections will be announced by April 10.
